Assignment3

November 12, 2019

```
[1]: import pandas as panda import numpy as numpy import math import random
[2]: trainingData = panda.read_excel("Project3.xlsx", sheet_name="Training")
    PredictData = panda.read_excel("Project3.xlsx", sheet_name="Predict")
[3]: def GetWlin(X,Y):
        XTX = numpy.dot(X.T, X)
        XTXIXT = numpy.dot(numpy.linalg.inv(XTX), X.T) return numpy.dot(XTXIXT, Y)
[4]: x0 = numpy.ones(numpy.size(trainingData["Midterm"])) x1 = numpy.array(trainingData["Midterm"]) x2 = numpy.array(trainingData["Homework"])
    x3 = numpy.array(trainingData["Quiz"])
    Y = numpy.matrix(trainingData["Course Grade"]).T
    X = \text{numpy.matrix}([x0, x1, x2, x3])
    X = X.T
    Wlin = GetWlin(X,Y)
    print(Wlin)
    file = open('1a.txt', 'w') print(Wlin, file = file)
    file.close()
   [[7.66712306]
    [0.31262773]
    [0.15289359]
    [0.43866389]]
      1.b
```

```
[5]: p0 = numpy.ones(numpy.size(PredictData["Midterm"])) p1 = numpy.array(PredictData["Midterm"]) p2 = numpy.array(PredictData["Homework"]) p3 = numpy.array(PredictData["Quiz"])

P = numpy.matrix([p0, p1, p2, p3]).T

PredictedY = numpy.dot(P,Wlin)

print(PredictedY)

file = open('1b.txt', 'w')
print(PredictedY, file = file)
file.close()
```

```
[48.56357988]
[75.74333708]
[64.71719403]
[68.00762601]
[76.33680974]
[69.53807621]
[78.88380021]
[77.34208887]
[75.73992604]
[72.74934632]
[84.25469179]
[68.69585682]
[74.83081547]
[84.69436523]
[79.43723912]
[67.87184302]
[83.24640249]
[70.41188903]
[76.36749754]
[86.19785409]
[82.99433017]
[81.359375]
[79.6447532]
[87.12889672]
[82.85511768]
[88.89039282]
[87.28863086]
[89.4819503]
[82.5962048]
[85.53397531]
```

[82.33729193]

```
[78.70194466]
    [64.25882868]
    [83.56003976]
    [85.28190298]
    [90.57272706]
    [86.06005202]
    [83.20788306]
    [88.85176949]
    [82.7173156]
    [91.23168049]
    [89.63675907]
    [82.77103045]
    [90.10912094]
    [84.87794661]
    [93.48555533]
    [91.44512948]
    [89.12577387]
    [97.77301547]
    [95.45365987]
    [90.02955821]
    [94.57633209]
    [94.53629834]]
     2.a
     Pass = 1 and Fail = -1 [6]: newY = numpy.ones(numpy.size(Y))
   for i in range(numpy.size(Y)):
       if Y[i] < 70.0: newY[i] = -1
       else:
           newY[i] = 1
   print(newY)
   1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                           1.
                        1.
                                           1.
                                                       1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
                1.
                                   1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
                                   1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                               1.
                                       1.
                                               1.
                                           1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                       1.
     1.
                                                   1.
                                                           1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
     1.
        1.
            1.
                1.
                    1.
                        1.
                            1.
                                1.
                                   1.
                                       1.
                                           1.
                                               1.
                                                   1.
                                                       1.
                                                           1.
                                                              1.
                                                                      1.
```

```
1.
                 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1.
                                                         1. 1.
                     1.
                         1.
                             1.
                                 1.
                                     1.
                                          1.
                                              1.
                                                  1.
                                                      1.
                                                          1.
                                                              1.
         1.
             1.
                 1.
                     1.
                         1.
                             1.
                                 1.
                                     1.
                                          1.
                                              1.
                                                  1.
                                                      1.
                                                          1.
                                                              1.
                                                                          1.
     1.
         1.
             1.
                 1.
                     1. 1.
                             1.
                                 1.
                                     1.
                                          1.
                                              1.
                                                  1.
                                                      1.
                                                          1.
                                                              1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
                                                                          1.
                     1.
                         1.
                             1.
                                 1.
                                     1.
                                          1.
                                              1.
                                                  1.
                                                      1.
                                                          1.
                                                              1.
         1.
             1.
                 1.
                                                                  1.
                                                                      1.
                                                                          1.
         1.
             1.
                 1.
                     1. 1.
                             1.7
      2.b
[7]: def GetError(Wlin, X, Y): power = numpy.multiply(Y, numpy.dot(Wlin.T,X))
        expPower = math.exp(power) return numpy.multiply(-Y,X) / (1.0 + expPower) [8]: def LogisticRegressionWithStochasticGD(Wlin, X, Y, step, maxIterations): w0 = Wlin
        w1 = Wlin
        tolleranceArray = numpy.ones(numpy.size(Wlin)) tolleranceArray = numpy.dot(0.00000001, tolleranceArray) for i in range(maxIterations):
            index = random.randint(0, numpy.size(Y) - 1)
            w1 = w0 - step * GetError(Wlin, X[index].T, Y[index])
            if (abs(w1 - w0) < tolleranceArray).all():</pre> return w1
                pass w0 = w1
            pass return w1
[9]: step = 0.0000001
    print("step :", step) print()
    Wlin2 = numpy.matrix(numpy.zeros(numpy.size(Wlin))).T print("w0 used:") print(Wlin2)
    WlinRegressed = LogisticRegressionWithStochasticGD(Wlin2, X, newY, step, 100000)
    print()
    print("After logistic Regression:")
```

```
print(WlinRegressed)
     file = open('2b.txt', 'w')
     print(WlinRegressed, file = file)
     file.close() step : 1e-07
    w0 used:
    [[0.]]
     [0.]
     [0.]
     [0.]]
    After logistic Regression:
    [[0.0034498]
     [0.2962093 ]
     [0.31506355]
     [0.30975625]]
[10]: PredictedY = numpy.dot(P, WlinRegressed) for i in range(numpy.size(PredictedY)):
         if PredictedY[i] < 70.0:</pre> PredictedY[i] = -1
         else:
             PredictedY[i] = 1
     print(PredictedY)
     file = open('2c.txt', 'w')
     print(PredictedY, file = file)
     file.close()
    [[-1.]
     [-1.]
     [ 1.]
     [-1.]
     [-1.]
     [ 1.]
     [-1.]
     [ 1.]
     [ 1.]
     [-1.]
     [-1.]
     [ 1.]
     [-1.]
```

[-1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[-1.]

[1.]

[-1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[-1.] [1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.] [1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]

[1.]]

[]: